

With Ann Greer and Rodney Mills

Responding Well to People with “Challenging Behaviour” and its Messages

Face to Face event

9.30am – 4pm | Friday 22 August 2025

The Colmslie Hotel, Cnr Wynnum &
Junction Roads, Morningside

Description

This workshop will encourage participants to understand more about the situations in which people with ‘challenging behaviour’ find themselves and to explore how they can best respond to support the person.

Presenter Ann Greer covers ways to develop strategies with the person, so that, regardless of the level of their disability, they can better understand the motivations, effects and consequences of their behaviour. Presenter Rodney Mills is a skilled presenter, trainer and consultant who brings lived experience of Autism and being subjected to restrictive practices to his unmissable presentation.

This workshop will involve information sharing, practical tips and strategies and learning through stories. It will not provide a recipe to ‘fix’ the person. An opportunity for family members and workers to attend and learn together.

Who Should Attend?

This workshop will be of interest to anyone supporting a person labelled as challenging – whether as a parent, family member, friend, or in a work role.
