

Meaningful Work for You

How to Find It or Create It

Everyone can work – but not everyone is given the chance to show what they can do!

This interactive, online workshop is for people with disability who want to work but know the traditional pathways won't lead to the jobs and career they want.

It can help get you started in working out what sort of job would be right for you or your family member, and learn about different ways to get it, even if it means creating a job yourself.

Join in on your own or with the people who will help you work towards a goal of a meaningful job.

At this workshop you will:

- Learn how to come up with job ideas based on what you are good at and interested in.
- Work out the things that will set you up to do well in a job.
- Hear about different and creative ways to get or create meaningful jobs.
- Bring it all together to figure out your next steps.
- Start to develop innovative ways to tell workplaces about yourself.
- Learn about things that will help you keep meaningful work once you have it.

What Do I Need for This Workshop?

This is an interactive workshop! You will be asked questions and share ideas with other people.

You will need:

- a computer or tablet device (we do not recommend joining the workshop on a phone)
- internet access
- speakers or headphone and a microphone

Who Should Attend

This workshop will be particularly useful for people with developmental disabilities, their families, friends and workers. Whether you have just started thinking about work, or are interested in trying or doing something different, this workshop is for you.
