

School To Work for Secondary Students with Disability

A Real Job or Just Filling in Time? How Social Role Valorisation can help

This event is a part of our School to Work Project which aims to inspire and equip students with disability, through the support of families, to seek meaningful, paid employment in the community.

Every young person deserves to get a job they love. Societal attitudes and low expectations around disability present an unfair barrier to young people. This webinar will feature Jane Sherwin, one of only two senior trainers in Social Role Valorisation (SRV) in Australia. If you are a parent or supporter of a young person with disability who wants to see the young person find real work that they enjoy, then this session is for you. The webinar will include live Q&A.

Participants will learn approaches that are informed by Social Role Valorisation (SRV), a framework that many families have used to create good lives for their loved ones with disability.

We will explore how we can support young people with disability to find and keep employment suited to their interests and where they make a valuable contribution, and not limited by others' ideas on what is possible.

Who Should Attend

This webinar is for the families of secondary school students with disabilities. Supporters and allies are also welcome to attend.

Please contact us if you have any questions or concerns about your ability to participate.

What do I need to participate?

We will be using the video meeting platform Zoom to host the webinar. You will need access to:
