

Bright Beginnings:

Planning a happy and inclusive start to school

Online

10am – 11.30am | 28 October 2025

Online Workshop | via Zoom

Description

In this online workshop, we will address many of the common questions and concerns of parents of children with disability about to start school. You will be clearer on what inclusive education is and why it's important for your child, and more confident in having enrolment interviews and ongoing conversations with your local schools.

This session will cover:

- Why planning for your child's inclusive education is important
- Information on school policies and the supports available
- How our first conversations with school can go a long way in building a productive home-school partnership
- What parents can do to help foster happy and inclusive school days
- Common issues and how to work through them

Tickets This workshop is fully subsidised.
